Help. Rebuild. Hope.

The City of Collinsville and the Collinsville Area Ministerial Alliance (CAMA) have teamed up to help the people of Joplin, MO after the tornado devastated their city in May 2011.

Although the news media has long since left Joplin, the city continues to struggle to rebuild. The people of Collinsville have not forgotten. Together we are responding to the call for help.

The “Collinsville Loves Joplin” project aims to help Joplin residents in two tangible ways. First, through the purchase of a mass number of home appliances. (relief site coordinators agree this is one of the greatest requests among displaced residents). Second, through a city-wide volunteer trip to Joplin to help however needed.
